

IRISH STAND ALOOF, Taking Their Seats In the House of Commons on the Opposition Side.

WILL UPHOLD GLADSTONE But Only So Long as He Keeps the Home Rule Bill to the Front.

WONT ACCEPT CABINET SEATS. The Situation in Afghanistan Is Becoming Serious Again.

A LONDON MOB OPERATES UNOPOSED

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The series of conferences between the leaders of the Irish party and Mr. Gladstone has definitely resulted in such a degree of mutual confidence as promises to expedite greatly the advent of home rule in Ireland.

The acceptance by Mr. John Morley of the post of Chief Secretary for Ireland was a point upon which Mr. Morley's holding the post during the critical period in the progress of the home rule bill. Referring to the reports printed in some of the English papers that certain Irish members might take office under Mr. Morley, Mr. Dillon said that such a thing was next to impossible.

No Irishmen for an English Cabinet. "No member of the party," he declared, "would dare to accept a place under any English Government. We are pledged," he added, "to accept no post except under a purely Irish administration when we get it; and any man violating that rule would be expelled from the party. You do not hear of anyone aiming at a place under the Gladstone Government. The English papers are entirely wrong in regard to the matter."

When asked whether he could communicate what modifications Mr. Gladstone had made in his home rule bill, Mr. Dillon replied that he was not at liberty to say anything except that the bill was likely to be one that Mr. Parnell would have accepted, adding: "We will not take anything less. Mr. Gladstone knows that our position in the matter is definite and inflexible. He has pledged himself to place home rule in front of all other measures, and to keep it there until it is passed. I believe we can rely upon his intention to do so."

Regarding the modifications of the original bill, the most important is one that has already been announced—the retention of Irish members in the Imperial Parliament. We have stipulated that Ireland's representation shall be as full as now. We will not assent to any reduction in our numbers.

Mr. Gladstone knows that his other modifications in the bill, as accepted by Mr. Parnell, will not be accepted. We have no reason to suppose that the Liberal leaders contemplate giving us less than what we should expect, altering their policy, we will at once suspend our support of the Liberal Government.

The Irish Absolutely Independent. The American press ought to know that our position is one of entire independence. Our alliance with the Liberals is to carry home rule. By that we shall abide. To show our independence, we have decided to sit in opposition to the Liberal Government; but we will support them as long as they keep to Mr. Parnell's bill, and not the momentary change.

"When do you expect Mr. Gladstone to introduce the home rule bill?" "As soon as the House reassembles in January, or early in February. We do not expect an autumn session. The House is likely to adjourn next Friday."

Alluding to Mr. Blake's copious eulogiums of Mr. Parnell and Mr. Parnell's policy at the Eighty Club dinner, the Associated Press representative suggested that these things were not complimentary with the Parnellites. Mr. Dillon replied that he knew of nothing pointing to more friendly relations with the Parnellites, and that no communications of that kind had been exchanged recently. Mr. Blake, in his speech and general bearing approving Mr. Parnell's policy, was like the other Irish members.

The majority was united that they did not require to go out of their way to conciliate the Parnellites, though they would be glad to receive them back. The majority's meetings were held under a bond of secrecy, but Mr. Dillon said they were tending to entire harmony in the party.

The Ceremony of Oath Taking. The Associated Press representative, in collecting the views of the Parnellites in the lobby of the House of Commons, found the outline of the home rule bill given in these dispatches on June 24 confirmed by the whole tenor of information given them by the Liberal leaders.

When the House of Commons adjourned today 245 members had been sworn in and had signed the roll. It was a good day's work, and was devoid of the solemnity sometimes associated with oath-taking. A number of the members simply affirmed, including John Burns, one of the labor leaders, and Mr. Naoroff, the Parsee. Several Quakers and Hebrews took the oath with their hats on.

Keir Hardie, the Laborist, with boorish ostentation, walked up the floor of the House, keeping his cap on until he was called to order by the Speaker, when he reluctantly took it off. He has already acknowledged in the House the character of a pugacious lout, but the House has lashed into decorum even worse specimens than he.

Mr. Davitt took the oath without a sign of conservative protest, and was at once surrounded by congratulating members, who were glad to hail him as a gentleman, even if he was an old Fenian convict.

The Situation in Afghanistan. The serious position of affairs in Afghanistan has decided the Indian Government to send General Sir Frederick Roberts at the head of a large detachment, called an escort, but really a small army, to meet the Ameer at Jelalabad. The Ameer wants money and new arms of precision.

Private Simla advices indicate that a grave military emergency is impending. The existing settlement with the Ameer was made by Sir Lepel Griffin, instructed by Mr. Gladstone, whose entrance into office is thus signalized by fresh troubles.

The Newcastle Unionists have selected a wealthy London merchant, Mr. Halli, to contest the seat against Mr. Morley. Mr. Halli has consented to run. Athorpe's library has been bought for £250,000 by the millionaire Mrs. Dylonds and presented to the city of Manchester.

Englishmen are so busy instructing America how mobs of workmen should be dealt with, that they overlook an affair that has just occurred here. Thousands of idlers assembled in Leabridge road, prepared to remove alleged obstructions erected by the London Water Works Company, and tore up a large fence and destroyed the palisades guarding the river and a short railway line used to convey coal to the pumping station. Afterward the crowd

RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

Moscow Now Inhabited and Three Deaths Occur There—Foolhardy American Tourists Take the Disease—The Day in Paris and Points in Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Four persons were seized with cholera and three of them died in Moscow Thursday. There have been 22 cases of cholera in a refuge for convict families near Moscow, and eight of the cases have proved fatal. Three emigrants have also died of the disease there. The innkeepers of Vienna refuse to accommodate travelers from Russia.

A Lemberg paper reports that a party of Americans visiting the large towns of Russia recently went from Moscow to Nijni Novgorod in spite of the prevalence of cholera, and that four of them have since been seized by the disease.

It is announced that cholera has appeared in Jomalra. Eleven cases and two deaths have been reported. In Tamboff there are 181 new cases and 39 deaths. The suburbs of Paris show that in all but one of the outlying districts the public health has improved. The exception is Argenteuil, where 100 deaths have occurred within the past week from cholera, cholera, typhoid fever. More than 150 persons in the same suburb suffering from the same illness have been removed to hospitals in the suburbs. A majority of the sufferers are employed in the lime quarries in the vicinity of Argenteuil.

THE KAISER LOSSES AGAIN.

His Yacht, the Meteor, Comes Out Third in the Last Race.

COWES, Aug. 5.—Emperor William this morning cruised on the Solent for half an hour in a royal national lifeboat. After his sail His Majesty returned on board the Kaiser yacht, the Imperial yacht, a little later the Meteor, the Emperor's yacht, and the rest of the fleet in the closing race of the regatta with ten other yachts. The Meteor was the third to cross the starting line, and she secured a good position to windward. She gives time allowance to all her competitors, in the case of one of the yachts the allowance amounting to 29 minutes. Owing to the lightness of the wind which prevailed, the Emperor did not sail on the Meteor. The race was for the Royal Yacht Club prizes. Lord Dufferin's Esperance was first, the Columbine second, and the Meteor third.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT IN LONDON.

Prices Are Low, as the Dealers Are Afraid of Refrigerated Articles.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—An auction sale of California fruit, which has just arrived here from New York by the steamer Majestic, was held to-day. The fruit was in fine condition and was greatly admired, but English dealers declare that refrigerated fruit will not keep sufficiently long to enable the trade here to handle it with profit. The bidding to-day was slack and the prices paid were low. Washington plums brought 15s to 17s; Souvenir de Congress pears, 15s to 17s; and Bartlett pears, 10s. The peaches will be sold at auction to-morrow.

MOROCCO AND ITS TROUBLES.

The Sultan's Troops Exasperatingly Slow in Dealing With the Rebels.

TANGIER, Aug. 5.—The camp of the Imperial troops at Mogoga is daily receiving reinforcements. Much discontent is expressed in Tangier at the prolongation of the contest with the rebels, which is declared to be ruinous to the interests of the European residents of Morocco. Many Spaniards are leaving the country. The Sultan of Morocco has appointed eight delegates to resume the negotiations for a commercial treaty with Sir Charles Euan-Smith, the British Minister to Morocco.

No Division Until Thursday.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Post says it is practically certain that the division on the address in reply to the speech from the throne will not occur before next Thursday, owing to the large number of Unionists who will take part in the debate. The Queen's speech will advert to the policy pursued by the Government, and will intimate their determination to adhere to the principles whereon it is based in the future, thus giving a wide scope to the debate.

Anti-Tax Riots in Italy.

ROME, Aug. 5.—There has been rioting in Laterza growing out of popular resentment to the hearth tax. The populace attacked and captured the municipal buildings and wounded the syndic of the town. The leaders of the riot were arrested by the police. The latter were stoned by the mob, and were obliged to use their revolvers before they restored order.

AWAKENED BY A PISTOL MUZZLE.

Two Masked Robbers Terrorize a Woman and Rob Her House.

NEW CASTLE, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Craig, who resides in North Beaver township, was awakened early this morning by the muzzle of a revolver pressing upon her forehead. Beside her bed stood a masked man. Mrs. Craig, being quite aged and was terribly frightened, but she managed to ask the man what he wanted and if he intended to kill her. He said, "No, not if you keep quiet."

Another man, also masked, here made his appearance, and after terrorizing the old lady the two robbers proceeded to ransack the house. They got a gold watch and a pocketbook containing $70. When they left the house they advised the old couple not to leave the premises for an hour under penalty of death. There is no clue to the burglars. Mrs. Craig is prostrated since the occurrence.

DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

A Little Boy Unable to Outlive Abandonment by His Parents.

ELIZABETH, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Charles Haber, aged 14, on July 27 was sent to the State Reform School from this city for stealing tools belonging to the workmen engaged in building the new city hospital. Yesterday the boy died at the reformatory, as is alleged, of a broken heart, because his parents abandoned him to his fate.

His father, Jacob Haber, is a brewer and lives at 845 Lafayette street. He never lives nor the boy's mother called to see the lad during the week he was in jail waiting to be arraigned. This preyed greatly on the young prisoner's mind, and although a strong, healthy boy, he rapidly pined away in confinement. Had his parents taken any interest in his behalf the court would have suspended sentence, as the tools stolen were all recovered.

PLATT MEETS REID.

The Two New York Leaders at Last Hold Their Conference.

GOOD WORK IN THE EMPIRE STATE.

Harrison Expected to Make Speeches During the Campaign.

COMPLETION OF NEBRASKA'S TICKET

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Hon. Thomas Collier Platt and Hon. Whitelaw Reid had a talk this afternoon over the Republican situation in New York State. Mr. Platt and Mr. Reid have been on the point of meeting several times recently, but Mr. Platt has been rather busy and Mr. Reid has been overrun with friends since his nomination at Minneapolis.

Mr. Reid is taking a personal and aggressive interest in the national Republican campaign. He has had quarters in the Fifth Avenue Hotel and also in the Tribune building. While the President was overwhelmed with work in the closing hours of Congress, Mr. Reid has had time to be active and vigilant. Naturally, he desired to consult with Mr. Platt as to the practical details of the campaign in New York State.

It was developed in their talk to-day that a good deal more work has been done by Chairman Hackett and his associates of the State campaign committee than many are aware of.

It is possible there may be a change in the programme, whereby the President was to appear in New York City on his way from Washington to Loon Lake, and hold an informal reception at which the leading Republicans of the State were to be present. The President is anxious to get to Loon Lake. Mr. Harrison is not particularly ill, but neither is she very strong.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS TO MEET.

The Call issued for the New York Convention on October 4.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The following call was issued to-day by the National Association of Democratic Clubs:

Representation in the National Convention is fixed by the eleventh and twelfth articles of the constitution, as follows: Eleventh—Each club or society shall be entitled to one delegate for every 100 members in good standing. No club or society shall be entitled to more than five delegates.

Twelfth—When the clubs or societies of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, not less than ten in number, shall have formed a State or Territorial or District association, such association shall be entitled to 11 delegates at large.

CHANCELLER F. BLAKE, President. WILLIAM L. WILSON, Chairman Executive Committee. LAWRENCE GARDNER, Secretary.

HARRISON TO BE HEARD

At a Number of Campaign Mass Meetings, Unless Something Prevents.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Colonel Chase was recently in Washington to solicit the presence of President Harrison at the great rally to be held at Woodside Island Park, September 10. He says it is more than likely that the President will be drafted into service to make speeches during the coming campaign, and if that is done he will probably address the gathering at Woodside.

Chairman Carter, of the National Republican Executive Committee, said to Colonel Chase that the President will be invited to participate in the campaign to the extent of making at least a few speeches, and Colonel Clark, Whitelaw Reid and other active leaders are urging that he do so. The President himself said he had not decided what he would do in the matter, but it is generally believed he will finally consent to do as he is asked. He has agreed to be present at the National League meeting to be held at Buffalo, next month.

COMPULSORY SUFFRAGE

Advocated by Attorney General Miller, Just as Had Been Reported.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Among prominent visitors here is Attorney General Miller. He has resisted every overture to talk about political matters, but upon being asked if it was true that he had asserted in a recent Fourth of July oration at Woodstock, Conn., that suffrage should be made compulsory by the disfranchisement of all who neglected to exercise the privilege, he replied: "Yes, that is substantially true. Our Government is for the people, and it is only through the ballot that the will of the people can be ascertained. Entirely too much indifference is given to governmental affairs by the people in general and business men in particular, and it seems to me that the only remedy for this defection is to disfranchise all who refuse to express their sentiments by voting." He will return to Washington in a few days.

STEVENSON AT FRANKFORT.

He Talks Once More of His Old Kentucky Home and Politics.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Aug. 5.—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, J. S. Ewing, his law partner, the Legislative Committee and a number of prominent citizens, left early this morning for Frankfort, where they arrived about 11 o'clock. A large crowd met them at the depot, where the party took carriages and were driven to the residence of ex-Governor Proctor Knott, where luncheon was served. The Legislature had agreed upon a joint session for 12:30 o'clock, and at that hour the party proceeded to the House of Representatives, where the Legislature had assembled. Mr. Stevenson was introduced by Governor Brown, and he spoke about his "old Kentucky home," the State and his warm welcome, and then dropped into politics.

An Appointment Act Void.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 5.—The application for a mandamus by the city attorney, compelling the Board of Supervisors to appoint according to the present State law was denied this morning. The Court holds that there are inequalities in the apportionment act so gross, as to Senate and Assembly general law, as to require the exercise of the Legislature was exceeded, and, therefore, the act is void.

JUDGE S. J. N. SMITH DEAD.

Close of a Checkered Career—A Pennsylvania Who Went South and Tried His Hand at Many Occupations—A Knowledge Backstop.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Judge S. J. N. Smith, of this city, died here suddenly yesterday of heart disease, aged 69. He was born at Carlisle, Pa., of Quaker stock, and came to New Orleans in 1833. Here he soon acquired reputation for his great courage, audacity and determination. He was a man of varied attainments and at times a surveyor, merchant, steamboat man, soldier, politician, lawyer and Judge.

Soon after his arrival in New Orleans he took a prominent part in the Lopez Cuban revolution, and went with the filibuster to Cuba. He escaped from the Lopez massacre, wandered for months in the Cuban forests, and ultimately surrendered to the Spanish authorities. He was confined in prison for some time, and released through the kindness of Daniel Webster, then Secretary of State.

Judge Smith came back to New Orleans, but enlisted soon after in the William Walker filibustering expedition to Central America. He escaped from the disaster there, and returned to New Orleans and became a captain of a river steamer, the Corona, and afterward the Flora, and was in several other capacities in the Confederate regiment during the late war.

Politically, Judge Smith was a Know-nothing in his earlier days, and to his discredit courage to the success of the party, which controlled New Orleans for years, was largely due. He held for some time the office of Recorder, and other minor offices. He was a vigorous stump speaker and his campaign in Louisiana in nearly every election for the last 25 years.

BURNED BY A PARLOR MATCH.

Probably Fatal Burning of One of Sewickley's Most Popular Girls.

Miss Beula Young, of Sewickley, was seriously, if not fatally, burned at her father's residence yesterday morning. The young lady had occasion to enter the pantry while preparing the family luncheon at noon, when she stepped upon a parlor match lying on the floor. In the explosion which resulted her skirts were ignited and she was almost instantly enveloped in flames. As she ran screaming into the dining room two servants seized her, and with rugs quickly smothered the blaze, but not before the young lady had been seriously burned about the body and lower extremities.

Dr. Murray happened to be in the vicinity, and promptly administered the soothing patient, who at a late hour last night was in a precarious condition. Miss Young is a daughter of Ezra P. Young, of the Tide Coal Company, and there is no more popular name in the young lady in the Sewickley Valley. She is only 16 years of age, but as a pupil at the Pennsylvania College recently captured the gold medal in the painting class. There is no girl in Sewickley for whom more general affection exists, and in her present affliction she has the sympathy of all.

BOYS IN A POWDER HOUSE

Set Fire to Its Contents Just for Fun—One Dead, Another Dying.

JOHNSTOWN, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Three boys, Dean Conrad, James McGillen and William Litzenger, while at McMillen's station, entered an abandoned powder house which contained several cans of blasting powder. The boys lighted a match and lit a few grains of powder on the floor. From one grain to another the fire spread rapidly. They then started to run, Litzenger getting out first and the other two following. McGillen went out next, and finding that Conrad was not coming, he returned to assist him.

He had no sooner entered than an explosion occurred. Conrad was blown for a considerable distance, and was burned to a crisp, being dead when he alighted. McGillen was burned so badly that it is expected that he cannot recover. Litzenger ran to Loretto, about 10 miles away, for help. It is thought that the contractor who left the explosive there will be prosecuted.

ACCIDENT TO A PITTSBURGH GIRL.

Miss Laura Brant Injured in a Runaway at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Miss Laura Brant, of Pittsburgh, was thrown from her carriage this afternoon at the corner of Pacific and South Carolina avenues. She was quite severely injured and failed to recover consciousness for an hour. There is not, however, anything to indicate that the injury will be serious. She is a guest at the Mineral Hotel.

DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

To the Amount of Nearly Half a Million Paid by a Failed Broker—Fortune Favors a Brave Man Who Clings to Her.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Just about a year ago Stephen Van Oullen White became so entangled in an effort to corner corn and because of the Chicago manipulation of the cereal that he was forced to suspend payments, owing a couple of millions of dollars. Mr. Keene and Mr. White were in the midst of a hard struggle when the blow made a changed man of him. His face was white, his manner languid and his step slow, and there was nothing about him of the bustle and rush that had so long been his characteristic in Wall street.

He handed over to his creditors everything he had left, and said that if they would give him time and take his word he would pay dollar for dollar. They all took his word and didn't ask for even a scrap of paper in acknowledgment of the debts. This cheered Mr. White up a good deal. He got back his color and his energy and started in with a determination to pay up. He joined hands with James B. Keene, another gentleman who had met with misfortune, and who since 1884 has squandered a couple of millions of dollars. Mr. Keene and Mr. White became personally and jointly interested in the industrial securi-
